

Children's Literature With A Math Theme

(There are many wonderful books with a math theme. Following are only a few. Please check your local library for a more complete list. Two bibliographies of children's math literature are Math and Literature. Burns, Marilyn. 1992 and Read Any Good Math Lately?. Whitin, D., and Sandra Wilde. 1992)

10 for Dinner. Bogart, Jo Ellen. 1989

The Tangram Magician. Ernst, Lisa Campbell, and Lee Ernst. 1990

My Father's Dragon. Gannet, Ruth Stiles. 1948

Two of Everything: A Chinese Folktale. Hong, Lily Toy. 1993

My Monster Mama. Leuck, Laura. 1999

Frog and Toad Are Friends. Lobel, Arnold. 1970

The Story of Z. Mod, Jeanne. 1990

How Big Is a Foot. Myller, Rolf. 1991

Eight Hands Round: A Patchwork Alphabet. Paul, Ann Whitford. 1996

Grandfather Tang's Story: A Tale Told with Tangrams. Tompert, Ann. 1997

Anno's Math Games. Anno, Mitsumaa. 1982

Anno's Mysterious Multiplying Jar. Anno, Mitsumaa. 1983

How Much Is a Million?. Schwartz, David. 1985

Ranger Rick. A magazine published by the National Wildlife Federation

Fraction Fun. Adler, David A. 1996

Counting on Frank. Clement, Rod. 1991

The King's Commissioner's. Friedman, Aileen. 1995

Each Orange Had Eight Slices. Giganti, Paul Jr. 1992

The Book of Classic Board Games. Klutz Press. 1991

The Wonderful Counting Clock. Edens, Cooper. 1995

Jelly Beans for Sale. McMillan, Bruce. 1996

One Hundred Hungry Ants. Pinczes, 1993

The Best of Times. Tang, Greg

The Rajah's Rice. Barry, David

The Grizzly Gazette. Murphy, Stuart

